

To Whom It May Concern:

While reading Intel news in the Oregonian, I saw an article about your startup and am interested in your company. Should you have any need for someone who is adept with data analysis, or if there is a need for someone with strong problem-solving and analytical skills, who can work well independently or within a group, please consider me for the position.

I have attached my resume to this email. Please let me know if there are any questions. Should you wish to contact a reference, I suggest being in touch with my former manager at Intel, Teri Utlaut. She supported the fab as the Senior Director of Statistics and Data Science and Senior Principal Engineer. She can be reached at utlaut@gmail.com

.

Kind Regards,

Drew Baumgartel