Hi,

I'm very interested in the "Senior Design Enablement Engineer" position offered by AheadComputing.

I believe I can fit well into the role considering my experience at Intel over the last 8 years as an SoC Design Engineer. Apart from logic design, I have maintained a keen focus on design automation and execution efficiency.

I have attached my resume for your perusal. Hoping to hear from the team and have a chat about the finer details regarding the role .

Thanks!
